Advanced Specialist Certificate in Teaching Reading and Writing

11 – 28 Feb 2020

(Important: This document should be read by all applicants prior to completing the application form for admission.)

Course Overview

Rationale
- This course deals with the principles, design and procedures in the teaching of reading and writing in ESL/EFL situations as well as in a multimodal world.
- The integration of theory and classroom practice will be achieved via journal writing, sample lesson plans and micro-teaching sessions.
- Key reading theories and writing approaches will be explored and discussed vis-à-vis the course participants' teaching and learning contexts.
- There will be a special focus on helping participants to make the transition from the traditional print-based literacy to multimodal-based literacy (reading and viewing, writing and representing) involving more than one mode of conveying meaning – spoken, written, visual, gestural and spatial.

Duration
3 weeks (54 hours)

Aims
By the end of the course, participants will be able to:
- Acquire an up-to-date knowledge of theories, principles and practices in the teaching of reading and writing; and
- Discuss and develop lessons in teaching different types and levels of reading and writing skills.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>COURSE CODE/TITLE</th>
<th>DESCRIPTION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LALS#510</td>
<td>This course explores a range of principles and practices for the teaching and learning of listening and speaking skills in the second/foreign language classroom. Drawing on evidence from classroom research, the course explores evidence-based proposals for addressing the practical issues that teachers face in planning and implementing instruction. Particular emphasis is given to the design of classroom materials, activities and lessons, and principles for managing classroom learning.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LALS#511</td>
<td>Examination of the principles behind the effective teaching of reading and writing skills in another language and the application of these principles in the preparation and use of teaching materials.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LALS#519</td>
<td>The changing sociolinguistic landscape of English has led to a paradigm shift in the Applied Linguistics discipline, calling for a critical re-assessment of ELT assumptions and practices that have been traditionally oriented toward native-English speakers' linguistic norms and practices. This course engages students in exploring the recent sociolinguistic development of the English language in various international contexts, and its implications for teaching English in today's globalizing/globalized world.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LALS#520</td>
<td>This course looks at the role of the learner and the effect of individual differences on second language learning. Issues such as learner motivation, affect, aptitude and learner response to feedback are explored.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LALS#522</td>
<td>The study of second language vocabulary learning and teaching, including factors that influence vocabulary learning, the roles of incidental acquisition and deliberate learning, how to select words for learning and how to assess vocabulary knowledge.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LALS#523</td>
<td>A study of the theory and practice of language assessment, with particular reference to classroom learning. Both formal tests and a range of alternative procedures are covered, having consideration for the purpose of the assessment and the requirements of the learning environment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LALS#528</td>
<td>The course focuses on the role of teachers as researcher who are seeking their classroom teaching/learning environment. It combines current reflective language teaching theory with the development of a hands-on action research plan.</td>
</tr>

COURSE CODE/ TITLE  | DESCRIPTION
---|---
LALS#529 Task-Based Language Teaching | Task-based language teaching (TBLT) has been extensively theorized and researched in recent decades and widely adopted in language teaching and learning internationally. Drawing on theoretical and classroom perspectives, this course explores task-based course design, teaching and assessment. It considers the practicalities of adopting TBLT in contexts familiar to teachers on the course.

*Guidelines (e.g. topic, length, format, etc.) for the preparation of assignments will be provided by the lecturers.

Programme Requirements

To complete the programme successfully, a candidate must:

- g) Obtain a pass in all eight courses;
- h) Satisfy class attendance requirements; and
- i) Complete all on-line tasks, where applicable.

A programme participant whose progress has not been satisfactory may be required to terminate his/her candidature.

Programme of Study

Programme participants must satisfactorily complete all eight courses as listed. Programme details are subject to change.

Programme Award

COURSE INFORMATION 2020

C422 Specialist Certificate in Teaching English as an International Language

23 Mar – 9 Apr 2020

(Important: This document should be read by all applicants prior to completing the application form for admission.)

Course Overview

The status of an 'international language' given to English due to its predominant use in a variety of international economic and cultural arenas has led to a paradigm shift from TESL/TEFL to TEIL (teaching English as an International Language).

As English is used as a lingua franca among speakers of diverse languages and cultures in today's globalised world, there is a need to develop curriculum and pedagogical strategies that engage students in learning how to communicate across languages and cultures.

Based on the TEIL perspective, this specialist certificate course engages course participants in learning how to use and teach English across cultures.

Duration

The course is intended for English language teachers with at least two years of teaching experience in the classroom.

It aims to fulfil the following objectives:

- To raise participants' language awareness for teaching English as a lingua franca.
- To enhance participants' language and communication skills for multilingual and intercultural contexts.
- To guide participants learn how to develop and teach materials/curriculum for teaching English as a regional/global lingua franca.
- To profile pedagogical ideas that are informed by current literature on TEIL.
Components

1. 2-week course on the principles and practices of teaching EIL
   - Language Variation 1: World Englishes
   - Language Variation 2: Asian Englishes (Singapore)
   - Intercultural Communication
   - Technology and Intercultural Communication
   - Principles of Teaching English as an International Language (TEIL)
   - EIL curriculum and syllabus materials development
   - Teaching Macro-skills for Intercultural Communication

2. 1-week for observing and teaching an Intercultural Communication lesson
   - Observing Cultural Awareness Lessons.
   - Teaching an English lesson based on the principles of TEIL.
   - Interaction sessions with participants from other courses.

Delivery

Two approaches will be used in this course to engage participants in learning to be a successful international/intercultural user and teacher of English in a wide variety of institutional settings and cultural contexts:

- The experiential learning approach: participants are provided with an opportunity to experience using and teaching English in multicultural contexts.
- The problem-based learning approach: participants are engaged in learning to resolve a wide range of mis-intercultural communication scenarios in both social and professional contexts.

Outcomes and Deliverables

Upon completion of the programme, the participants will be able to:

1. Develop awareness and understanding of the current landscape of the English language in the world and in the ASEAN region.
2. Demonstrate an understanding of the complex relationships between language and culture.
3. Use knowledge and skills to communicate and teach English across cultures.
4. Apply the pedagogical principles of teaching English as an International Language to various classroom situations.
5. Demonstrate competency in teaching EIL by conducting oneself with sensitivity to, and appreciation of, diverse student populations.

Course Requirements

To complete the course successfully, a candidate must:

- j) Satisfy class attendance requirements;
- k) Attain a satisfactory standard in required course work; and
- l) Complete all assignments and an exam
Annex B

- Identify and design test specifications for AFL and AoL in alignment with specific language syllabuses/courses;
- Construct reliable, valid and practical types and modes of AFL and AoL;
- Analyse, interpret and use data from and results of AFL to provide informed and constructive feedback to help improve students’ language learning; and
- Evaluate and appraise both AFL and AoL that are currently used in their institution.

The content of the modules are subject to change. Broadly, the following topics will be covered in the modules:

a) Language Curriculum Design and Implementation (Face-to-Face)
This module combines current language curriculum theory with hands-on application. Through lectures, group work discussions, readings, and classroom tasks and activities, course participants will become familiar with the many trends and challenges in language curriculum design and implementation.

b) Teaching Listening and Speaking (Face-to-Face)
This module is designed firstly to develop participants' understanding of the theoretical bases for the teaching of listening and speaking skills in an ESL/EFL classroom. It also gives focus on the types of micro-skills and strategies involved in listening and speaking and some of the issues and challenges involved in teaching these skills. The course will also critically examine current approaches to teaching listening and speaking skills and will incorporate a dimension of multimodality.

c) Teaching Reading and Writing (Blended)

This module deals with the principles, design and procedures in the teaching of reading and writing in ESL/EFL situations as well as in a multimodal world. The integration of theory and classroom practice will be achieved via journal writing, sample lesson plans and micro-teaching sessions. Key reading theories and writing approaches will be explored and discussed vis-à-vis the course participants’ teaching and learning contexts. There will be a special focus on helping participants to make the transition from the traditional print-based literacy to multimodal-based literacy (reading and viewing, writing and representing) involving more than one mode of conveying meaning – spoken, written, visual, gestural and spatial.

d) Language Assessment (Blended)

This module introduces the basic theoretical principles related to language assessment. Course participants will have the opportunity to reflect on their own language assessment practice in relation to their teaching objectives. There will also be hands-on practice in the planning, designing, and grading of assessment related to receptive and productive language skills. Additionally, this module will explore the rationale for assessment for learning, and the key approaches in implementing such classroom-based assessment.

e) Technology Enhanced Language Learning (Blended)

In today’s technologically driven society, learning languages has gone digital and classrooms have become increasingly high tech. How should our English Language teachers respond to the use of technology in their classrooms? What is the role of technology in the teaching of the English Language? How do SLA concepts and methods be made evident in the classrooms that use technology? These questions and issues will be covered in this module. This module will familiarise participants with the current approaches, concepts, principles and practices of the use of technology in teaching and learning of ESL and EFL. Participants will have the opportunity to select, evaluate and curate digital learning tools in their application of SLA concepts and methods in their own teaching contexts.

f) Issues in Applied Linguistics (Face-to-Face)

Applied linguistics is an academic discipline that engages its communities of practice in studying, investigating, and reflecting on the relation of knowledge about language to making decisions in tackling language issues in both educational and social settings. Thus, applied linguistics course participants need to be engaged in discussing key topics, issues, or research areas within the discipline that have significant personal and professional implications for them as language users, learners, and teachers. This module introduces course participants to a range of issues, which fall into the major themes that have traditionally been associated to the applied linguistics discipline, i.e. language use and language pedagogy (including language learning/acquisition). This module does not only aim to equip them with sufficient background knowledge that prepares them for various relevant applied linguistics modules they will study in the blended diploma. It also intends to engage the course participants in critical dialogues on their perspectives on (English) language, and its implications on the ways in which they use, learn, and teach (English) language.
Course Requirements

To complete the course successfully, a candidate must:

p) Obtain a pass in all modules;
q) Satisfy face-to-face class attendance requirements; and
r) Satisfy online mandatory course requirements in terms of the completion of forum postings, quizzes and assignments.

A course participant whose progress has not been satisfactory may be required to terminate his/her candidature.

Course Award

The course will lead to the award of a Blended Postgraduate Diploma in Applied Linguistics.

Admission Requirements

The requirements for admission to the programme are:

m) An approved bachelor's degree (or equivalent qualifications) in Linguistics, English Language, TESOL or Education;

n) At least two years of full-time English language teaching experience or experience in English language/curriculum planning and language development programmes; and

o) Candidates must meet the minimum language scores for any of the following:
