NRCP

Season 2
11 APRIL 2022

B2B is an online platform featuring science classes where difficult science theories and concepts are presented and unlocked by NRCP Research Experts using simple and easy to understand language coupled with animated videos and infographics. These online science classes are intended to encourage students of all levels to appreciate science and technology and acquire scientific knowledge which may be useful in their everyday life. Likewise, these online science classes serve as supplemental learning activities to students' regular school science classes, enriching and making their learning experience more relevant and exciting.
