WORKSHOP ABSTRACTS

Clinical Training and Supervision in Counseling

Adelaida C. Gines, PhD, RGC, RPsy

TOPIC ABSTRACT

The workshop covers the concepts of clinical training and supervision, its rudiments and roles of supervisors and supervisees. The ethical standards and guidelines are equally presented. It is highlighted with a presentation of best practices by the supervisor and supervisee with the constructive feedback of the mentor and the observer assigned to the dyad.

CBT in the Age of Disruption

Sheila Marie G. Hocson, PhD, RGC, RPsy, RPm

TOPIC ABSTRACT

As the age of disruption and fourth industrial revolution unfolds, social structures and personal values of the people also continue to change and become more complicated. Problems of children, adolescents, and adults are becoming complex wherein there are a lot of increasing concerns about well-being. A rapidly changing environment; violence in the home, schools, and communities; bullying, teenage suicide, and drug abuse are the few examples that people face today. With all these problems and issues is a challenge among mental health practitioners to provide evidence-based strategies and techniques through Cognitive Behavior Therapy.

Emotional Freedom Techniques

Jenny Johnston,

EFT Universe Trainer and Clinical Past Life Hypnotherapist

TOPIC ABSTRACT

This workshop introduces the participants to a therapeutic technique, popularly known as Tapping or Emotional Freedom Techniques (EFT), which has been found to be helpful in working with a variety of emotional, physical, and performance issues. Drawing from both western and eastern traditions, the workshop sheds light into the physiological reasons of why Tapping works and why it is a preferred modality particularly in working with traumatic memory. Likewise, it acquaints the participants with the basic procedures and the gentle techniques of tapping demonstrations and practice demonstrations are highlighted so that participants get to experience its benefits.
